NIKOLAYEV SHIPBUILDING INSTITUTE REGISTERS STUDENTS -- Press Release
21 Jul 49

The Nikolayev Shipbuilding Institute named Admiral S. G. Gorshkov is accepting students for the 1949 - 1950 school year. The institute teaches the following specialties: shipbuilding, ship machines and mechanisms, combustion ship engines, and technology of machine-building (two last sections).

The period of instruction is 5 years 9 months, with the exception of instruction in the technology of machine-building, which lasts 3 years. Entrance requirements are the same as for all higher educational institutions. Applications are accepted from 20 June to 31 July. Entrance examinations will be held from 1 August to 20 August.

The institute will provide scholarships to students accepted without entrance examinations (those completing secondary schools with a gold or silver medal, or those graduating from technical schools in the upper 5 percent of their class and entering the institute in their specialties) and to students making grades of excellent or good in their entrance examinations.

The institute is equipped with an instruction laboratory, library, workshop, dining hall, and its own harbor.
